One of the best books to share with my family and friends. The other cool part is it is a website too with new articles and facts daily. Also, if a fact is updated, because science is always updating, they correct the fact and reference their previous fact. Who does that these days? "did you know?" does that's who.

Great gift for the teen trivia lover. It even tells how to download a YouTube video and save it to your desktop. Fun read and many of the topics are things you "did not know" but will make you smile to learn.
