Andrew Nickolds, Christopher Douglas : Ed Reardon's Week: The Complete Fifth Series before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Ed Reardon's Week: The Complete Fifth Series:

Ed Reardon, author, pipe smoker, consummate fare-dodger, and master of the abusive email, attempts to survive in a world where the media seems to be run by idiots and lying charlatans. In these six episodes, Ed and Mary Potter are in a record breaking second month of partnership bliss. But work isnt going so well: it's time for Ed to drag out the old jeans, buy a mobile phone, and cut 10 years off the CV as the new Head of New Media Development is a genuine 12-year-old. And after a run-in with the Head of Stakeholder Communications Engagement at a local council meeting, Ed finds himself in anger management classes. Plus, Jaz suggests that Ed revive one of his old stage shows, Educating Peter; Ed finds himself writing for a local lifestyle magazine when everyone at the agency goes on holiday; and a visit from his new grandson Smile inspires him to write a children's book. However, his daughter is not at all impressed with his flat. Written by Christopher Douglas and Andrew Nickolds, Ed Reardons Week includes supporting roles from Stephanie Cole as Olive, John Fortune as Felix, and Barunka OShaughnessy as Ping. Ed Reardon's Week was voted Best Radio Programme by the Broadcasting Press Guild.3 CDs. 2 hrs 48 mins.

"The misanthropic writer returns for a new series of the award-winning sitcom by Christopher Douglas (who also plays Reardon) and Andrew Nickolds. Unmissable." The Stage
