Andrew Nickolds, Christopher Douglas : Ed Reardon's Week: The Complete First Series before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Ed Reardon's Week: The Complete First Series:

Ed Reardon (played by Christopher Douglas) is a failed writer, fare-dodger, and master of the abusive email. Living with his cat in a one-bedroom flat, this bearded divorcee grumbles at a modern world seemingly run by 12-year-olds, while churning out books such as Jane Seymours Household Hints and Pet Peeves (to pay the bills) and trying to live off the royalties of his 1982 episode of Tenko (17 per annum). We track Eds attempts to gain the literary success he feels is due in this painfully funny and extraordinarily clever sitcom. Written by Christopher Douglas and Andrew Nickolds, Ed Reardons Week includes marvelous supporting roles from Stephanie Cole, John Fortune, and Sally Hawkins. Ed Reardons Week was voted Best Radio Programme by the Broadcasting Press Guild. 3 CDs. 3 hrs.

"Ed Reardon is quite the funniest creation I've heard (or seen) in some time" -- Adam Bowie The Ballad of Adam Bowie "The sharpest, funniest and most stinging comedy for years" The Sunday Times About the Author Christopher Douglas is a British actor and writer. He is co-creator and writer of Ed Reardon's Week, as well as I, An Actor (with Nigel Planer), and Beauty of Britain (with Nicola Sanderson). Andrew Nickolds is a British writer, with contributions to Ed Reardon's Week (as co-writer), Dave Podmore's Ashes, Loose Ends, The Lenny Henry Show, and many other series.
