From Radio Spirits : Edgar Allan Poe Smithsonian Legendary Performers Series before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Edgar Allan Poe Smithsonian Legendary Performers Series:

From AudioFileGathered in this collection are 12 episodes from old radio programs like Suspense, Mystery in the Air, and Inner Sanctum, each depicting one of Poes classic tales. Most of these segments are from the late 1940s or 1950s, so production and sound quality tend to be good. Vincent Price reads a faithful and chilling adaptation of The Pit and the Pendulum. Peter Lorres performance as a tormented wife-killer in The Black Cat is natural, and excellent. Daws Butlers unmistakable comical voice is right for the satirical Never Bet the Devil Your Head. The Tell-Tale Heart, read by Boris Karloff, however, is disappointing, with a scratchy recording and a script that wanders far from the original. A 32-page booklet provides background to the stories, productions, and actors. S.E.S. AudioFile 2007, Portland, Maine-- Copyright AudioFile, Portland, Maine
