Haley Grassia : Life Happens before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Life Happens:

Content with her life as it is, film editor Harper is caught in a precarious situation when a handsome British stranger, Micah, shows up for dinner at her house. When Harper is forced to confront and face her feelings, will she welcome love and open her heart or will she throw it all away for fear that it's only a passing dream?

About the Author Haley has had a passion for film since she was a little girl. Her passion started off with acting. Haley was an actress in a small-town community theater group in the little town of Atmore, Alabama. Haley decided to use her talents behind the camera and in 2011 she obtained a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Film. Haley considers herself a hobbyist screenwriter and tends to view screenwriting as an outlet, whereas most people journal their feelings and emotions, Haley writes them out in screenplays. At 6 months of age, Haley was diagnosed with Hydrocephalus, which caused her to develop Spastic Hemiplegia Cerebral Palsy. This type of Cerebral Palsy affects the entire right side of her body. You can read more about her journey with CP here. Haley includes a character who has her type of Cerebral Palsy in all of her screenplays. She also has a Master of Science Degree in Human Resource Management and is a Virtual Human Resources Director as well as a stay-at-home mother. Haley lives in Duluth, GA with her husband Albert and their daughter Chaplin.
