Alice Gavin : Literature and Film, Dispositioned: Thought, Location, World (Language, Discourse, Society) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Literature and Film,

Dispositioned: Thought, Location, World (Language, Discourse, Society):

Literature and Film, Dispositioned looks to twentieth-century literature's encounter with film as a means to thinking about the locations of thought in literature and literature's location in the world. It includes readings of works by James Joyce, Henry James, and Samuel Beckett, whose Film (1965) forms a concluding focus.

About the Author Alice Gavin studied literature at the University of Oxford, UK. Formerly a Fellow of the ICI Berlin Institute for Cultural Inquiry, Germany, she currently teaches film and literature at the University of Sussex, UK.
