Dennis Schfer, Larry Salvato : Masters of Light: Conversations with Contemporary Cinematographers before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Masters of Light: Conversations with Contemporary Cinematographers:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great for cinematographers. By Iakov Yusufov Beautiful book for people who are transfixed on the visual aspects of movies. If you are an aspiring cinematographer, I strongly recommend it this one even though they are working with stock film, it is still a great way to get into a pro's head. Another book that I like even more than this is Alemendro's A man with a Camera. A rare a book but well worth it.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Through conversations held with fifteen of the most accomplished contemporary cinematographers, the authors explore the working world of the person who controls the visual look and style of a film. This reissue includes a new foreword by cinematographer John Bailey and a new preface by the authors, which bring this classic guide to cinematography, in print for more than twenty-five years, into the twenty-first century.
