A. Turner : Net Bomb before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Net Bomb:

Satirical sendup of crackpot manifestos, using lively, entertaining language, Net Bomb offers controversial, funny, surprising observations about bureaucracies, computer science, management psychology, and the status of clerical workers.

About the Author A. Turner, 60, is a Vietnam era veteran without PTSD, who has at times been a corporate yuppie, a psychedelic hippie, a pornographic projectionist, a single parent, a ukulele playing street musician, and a government clerk.
